FRESHMAN WEEK EXTRA

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE

SEPTEMBER 17, 1967

It's Your Choice

We are as glad to welcome you to St. Michael's College as you are to be here -- and not one bit more.

You, the Class of '71, will determine the reaction you evoke. You and your classmates will prove what you're worth, to the college, to yourselves and to your peers, and on your actions will your reputation be based.

It is important that you realize that your identity here is strictly a matter of self-determination. The faculty, administration and upper-classmen do not know you yet, so no one has a preconceived notion about you.

It follows then that, since you are men, or if you're not, you had better become men very soon, you not only have the right or self-determination but the duty to be certain that the image you project is one you wish to project.

The venture is only to be accomplished through your class' unified efforts.

If you (the Class of '71) choose to be known as juvenile and irresponsible people, you soon will be.

If, on the other hand, you choose to foster a better, and infinitely more worthy reputation, it may take added time to nurture, but you can accomplish it.

The work, basically self-discipline, will be harder, because it is much more difficult to be a gentleman than to be an animal.

But once your reputation as a class is established, it is there for good.

Think carefully about what kind of a class you want yours to be before you decide how to act personally, because one untoward, unfortunate action this early in the academic year can very easily mark the entire class.

A bad repete can be created with the tilt of a beer can, and a fine one obliterated with the same speed.

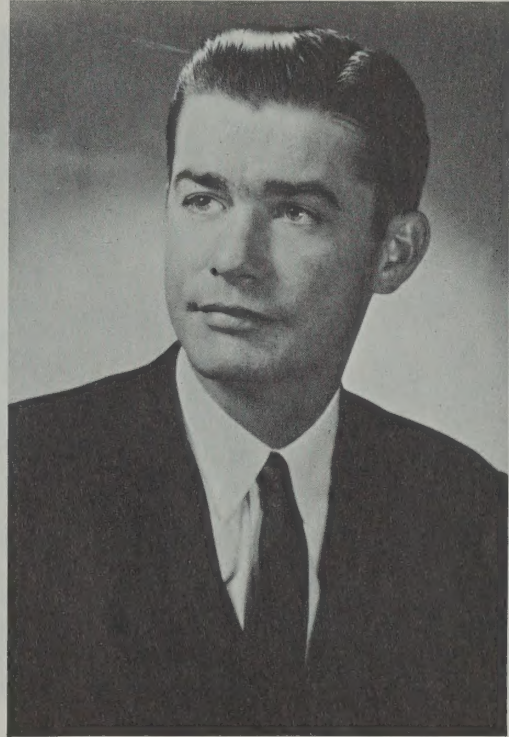

Since you are the most numerous class on campus, about one-third of the population, your actions will have a proportionately high effect on the image of the student body, and you have no right to jeopardize what others have built.

In this instance, the college is what you make it. If, for some inexplicable reson, you should decide to live and act like animals, your environment will become justly zoo-like.

If, on the other hand, you choose to act and live as gentlemen, you will find on the campus a home.

Relaxed rules are a feature of this college which will seem normal to you, since you will not have known a different situation, but to many others they represent many weeks of hard work.

New Deans

Dr. Robert Giroux

Ralph R. Monticello

Dr. Robert J. Giroux and Ralph R. Monticello have taken office as the first lay dean of the college and dean of men at St. Michael's.

Dr. Giroux, vice president for academic affairs as well as dean, was named to his position in July by the Board of Trustees.

Monticello received his appointment in June.

Dr. Giroux is a graduate of St. Michael's and holds a Ph.D. in education from the University of Ottawa.

He had been director of the extension (graduate) program, head of the summer school and chairman of the education department prior to becoming dean.

A native of Burlington, he is married and the father of seven children.

Dr. Giroux is a member of several educators' councils and advisory boards.

He is charged with supervision of the academic departments, the admissions office and the associate dean's office. Dr. Giroux replaces the Rev. Joseph L. Hart, S.S.E. who is in charge of the guidance and counselling office.

Monticello was assistant director of placement and financial aid here last year.

He is a graduate of Hofstra University and holds a master of science degree in economics from the University of Vermont.

Monticello is in charge of the dormitories, discipline and student government, working under the supervision of the Rev. John A. Stankiewicz, vice president for student affairs and last year's dean of men.

Other administrative and faculty changes will be noted in the regular issues of The MICHAELMAN.

For all practical purposes, this is home for the best part of the next four years.

For your own sake, for the college's sake, for the sake of all those who are alumni, students and potential students, make this a home of which no one need be ashamed.

The reputux of your class will be reflected strongly in the reputation of all Michaelmen.

Know what you wish that reputation to be and then, as individuals working together, make that reputation.

Some members of the Class of 1971 did not send photographs to The MICHAELMAN, so they are not represented in this paper.

Freshmen who may wish to become MICHAELMAN staff members are urged to speak to any one of the staff members on campus this week and express their desire. The editors will attempt to contact each freshman individually this week in his room.

Soccer, Club Football Promise Healthy Fall Sports Season

Two St. Michael's College teams will open their campaigns a little over a week apart in what promises to be a healthy fall sports season for Michaelmen.

The St. Michael's College Soccer Team will travel to Plattsburgh State for a Sept. 27 opener, while the Club Football team will be at Hartford Oct. 8 for its first game.

The two teams present a contrast in strength -- the soccer squad riddled by graduation and the football team deep in veteran strength.

For Coach Tony Jaremczuk the big question will be: can a winning soccer team be built around three veterans?

Coming off one of the most successful seasons in the history of St. Michael's soccer, this year's team has some rather large gaps in the line-up. Jaremczuk has lost seven top performers from last year's squad which posted a 6-3-1 record. Gone are Goalie Bob Dunshee of Terryville, Conn., Co-Captains Mike O'Brien of Middlebury and Vito Angelillo of Bristol, Conn., Norm Bonneau of North Troy, Vt., Arnie Oliver of Westbrook, Conn., Jon Ratti of Proctor, Vt., and Bob Boucher of East Hartford, Conn.

An assessment of that loss is easier when it is noted that O'Brien, Bonneau and Shay were top scorers for the Purple Knights booters, contributing five goals apiece to the 1966 cause. Ratti, Boucher and Oliver furnished strong defensive support while Dunshee covered the goal effectively enough to turn away 124 scoring bids.

With the seven gone, Jaremczuk can only hope to build around the nucleus of three outstanding players from last year's squad. Seniors Ray Pentkowski of Proctor and Tim Shay of Yonkers, both All-State selections last year, certainly provide the framework around which to build another winning team. Bob Winship of Springfield, Mass., another senior, tied O'Brien, Bonneau and Shay for top scoring honors for the Purple Knights last year. He is expected to provide a lot of the scoring punch this year.

The gleam in Coach Art Coggio's eye these days springs from the knowledge that he will have a strong veteran line-up going for him along the route of the five-game club football schedule. Coggio, a member of that famed 1951 "Iron Knights" eleven, brought the 1966 squad through a three-game slate with a 2-1 record, posting wins over Utica and St. John's University while losing to Siena.

About the only major replacement problem Coggio faces is at quarterback where Ken Juall of Wyckoff, N.J., stood out last year. Senior Dick Thiesen of Port Henry, N.Y., looks like a good bet to fill Juall's shoes.

Others lost to the squad via graduation were Center Tom Delehanty of Lewiston, Me.; Guards Paul Zimmerman of Glenside, Pa., and Larry Noonan of Brockton, Mass.; Tackle Barry Roy of Taftville, Conn.; Fullbacks Chris Balik of Clifton, N.J., and Larry Anthony of Jewett City, Conn.; and Halfback Les Shea of Boston.

In the line, Coggio will have Ends Chris Fialkovich of Granville, N.Y., Ralph Musella of Rutland, Vt., Paul Seymour of Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Leo McLaughlin of Manchester, N.H.; Tackles George Sousa of Somerset, Mass., Jim Fallon of Loudonville, N.Y., and Sam Minella of Bristol, Conn.; Guard Paul Lynch of Lodi, N.J.; and Center Rich Lawlor of East Hampton, N.Y.

Backfield veterans include Fullbacks Ed Kiernan of Thompsonville, Conn., Maurice O'Connell of Rockville Centre, N.Y., and Thomas Heffernan of New York City; and Halfbacks Bob Muehlberger of Waterford, Conn., Tom Leehan of Union, N.J., Larry McGinnis of South Portland, Me., and Kevin Wiggin of Winchester, Mass.

The team will be shooting for a winning season as well as a top performance for the October 21 game with Utica College during Fall Homecoming.
